Our programs bring our community members into Glendale's wondrous natural spaces to reap the benefits of encounters with the untouched natural world. Our programs directly serve children in underserved communities, local elders, disabled individuals and all of the area's residents and visitors who relish a dose of vitamin nature.

Introducing the Donor Wall at Deukmejian Wilderness Park: The Gateway to Glendale's Great Outdoors

Support the Glendale Parks & Open Space Foundation by adding your name to the donor wall at the amphitheater of the new Stone Barn Nature Center

For the first time in the City of Glendale's history you can now add your name or the name of your family, company or organization to a one-of-a-kind legacy tile for a donor wall in a public park. The new donor wall adjoins an upcoming stained glass mosaic mural at beautiful Deukmejian Wilderness Park. This beloved public park features over 700 acres of unspoiled wilderness and hosts more than 7000 visitors each year, with many more coming once the interactive Stone Barn Nature Center opens its doors in 2021. The center and its amphitheater mural will serve as a portal into the park and convey the natural diversity of the area.

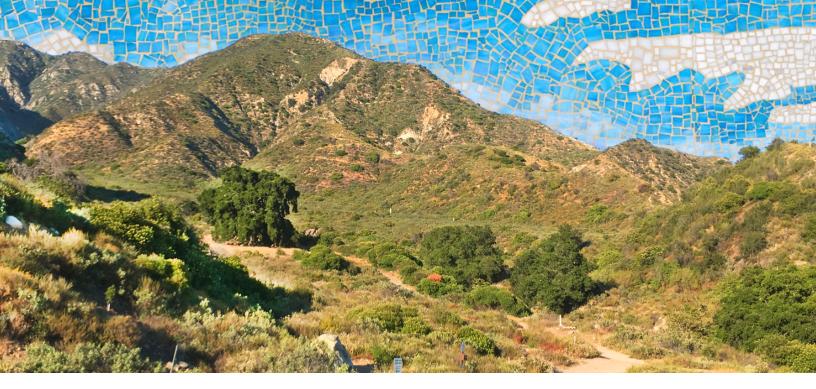

To celebrate the upcoming opening of the center, the Glendale Parks & Open Space Foundation has commissioned the donor wall and mosaic mural to raise funds for their programs as well as encouraging engagement with the diversity of plants and animals in the park. Sponsors' names will be kiln fired into glass tiles that will be permanently affixed to the amphitheater's donor wall, providing a moving legacy into the future.

This donor wall opportunity will only last for a limited time so don't miss your chance to be a sponsor.
